Greetings!

MONTY ANSWERS

Question:

I work in adult education and am passionate about lifelong learning. Do you believe it is always possible to learn more about horses and are you still learning now at 80, or do you feel that horses have familiar responses and, once you have trained enough horses, you've learned everything you could?

Kerry Newson

Answer:

It is absolutely true that in this, my 80th year, I believe that I have learned more than any other year I have experienced. It is my firm belief that learning only gets more attainable as the years go by. I am of course eliminating circumstances of aging that would limit brain functions. Do not seek an excuse from me for getting too old! I believe learning never stops.

Sincerely,
Monty

Monty's Principles

Hope for the Future

It is a dream of mine to be able to experience Monty and his work first hand! I first learned of Monty on PBS years ago and would not have opportunity to learn any more of Monty and his work until I was in an inmate program in the Oklahoma D.O.C. and actually got to work for a brief time with BLM wild mustangs/ wild burros and that experience changed my life! I am working toward a non-profit second-chance ranch program for at risk youth and the wild mustangs! I have learned the fight or flight aspect of Monty's work and the at-risk kids are very much the same in a lot of ways. Monty, I believe that your work transcends that of man and animal but may well be very effective in working with kids and helping them understand how to deal with whatever they are facing! It sure has changed me for the better and I hope and pray that we all can help do better for all of those who could truly benefit from it! Kirk Vandiver

Test yourself each week as I challenge you to answer the question below. I mean this. Sit down and write an answer. Don't wait for my answer next week. If you have been reading my Weekly Questions and Answers for the last six months, you should be in a position to do this. Send your answer to my team at: askmonty@montyroberts.com

Why should you bother? Because it will help you focus. There is probably a comparable question in your life that needs answering - or will be. If you can gain insight into how to go about answering a practical question that is loosely related to your problem, this exercise will help you answer your nagging question. Then read my answer. I want all of my students to learn to be better trainers than me. That's good for you and good for horses!

Next Week's Question:

I have been a member of IH for over twelve years now and have followed your work and attended many of Kelly's courses. Apart from being able to transform the way we work with horses, I have also been able to use your philosophy and methods with difficult children who I used to work with. I was also briefly involved with using horses in a therapeutic way with war veterans. I am now retired and work voluntarily in a prison. I would love to have the opportunity to talk with you about how it would be possible to use your methods with inmates or even the prison officers. So many of our offenders are, like our difficult horses, victims of horrendous abuse. Our penal system is so punitive and robs its population of any self-esteem and sense of hope. Humans are after all only animals and I am convinced there is a better way to deal with criminals than shutting them in cages. Many thanks for all you have taught me over the years.

SUCCEED: Digestive Health

"I have believed for years that digestive health has a major impact on a horse's happiness, performance and overall well-being. Just by owning and riding horses, we take them out of their natural environment. We keep them in stalls, we feed them grain, and we exercise them. All of this works against the horse's digestive health.

I also believe there is something you can do to care for your horse's digestive system. I've been using a product called SUCCEED® on my performance horses for many years now, with tremendous results." ~ Monty

Horse Sense for Leaders: Building Trust-Based Relationships Features New York Times Best-Selling Author Monty Roberts

"The connection made in this book between leadership and non-violence is extremely important. Many leaders have employed violence or cruelty to achieve their ends but Monty Roberts has gone in the opposite direction and shows how true leadership is about the development of trust (whether between a human and an animal or between humans) and encouraging those around one to reach their full potential. Everybody could benefit from absorbing the practices outlined in this book."

Andrew Rowan is the Chief Scientific Officer for The Humane Society of the United States.

Premise of the book: Monty Roberts, author of The New York Times bestseller, The Man Who Listens to Horses, has cooperated with the writing of a new book, Horse Sense for Leaders. The book borrows from the fascinating life of Roberts, known as the horse whisperer, for a highly engaging look at the significance of trust-based leadership. The book blends Monty's work as a world leader of non-violent horse training with current research on the value of a trust-based leadership approach. This unique approach allows for an interesting and provocative read on how leaders can engage followers in more effective relationships at work.
